

Commonwealth-State Regulation Impact Statement status, 2025-26

The Office of Impact Analysis (OIA) publishes each Regulation Impact Statement (RIS) with the OIA's assessment on its website as soon as practicable after a policy announcement, in consultation with the relevant Ministerial Meeting or national standard-setting body (NSSB).

Please note that all Department and Agency names in this report reflect their name at the time the RIS was published.

This compliance report covers Commonwealth-State Decision RISs (D-RISs) for announcements made and Consultation RISs (C-RISs) released for consultation which have been published on the OIA website (Published Impact Analyses | The Office of Impact Analysis) in 2025-26 up to 21 May 2026. Relevant web posts are available on the OIA website.

On 28 April 2023, National Cabinet agreed to changes to the RIS requirements that apply to decisions in the Federal Relations Architecture. Under the Guide for Ministers' Meetings and National Standard Setting Bodies (the Guide), a RIS only needs to be finalised with the OIA if requested by the relevant decision maker(s).

As outlined in the Guide, where a RIS is commissioned by the decision maker, the default requirement is that both a C-RIS and D-RIS must be prepared. However, a C-RIS may not be required in circumstances where the OIA has agreed that the function of the C-RIS has been achieved by an appropriate alternative mechanism.
