Dear Mr McNamara

Radiocommunications (Interpretation) Determination 2000

I am writing to the Office of Best Practice Regulation regarding the Radiocommunications (Interpretation) Determination 2000 (Interpretation Determination) which, as per the Legislative Instruments Act 2003, was scheduled to sunset on 1 April 2015. However, the Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA) has decided to remake the instrument without significant amendment.

The ACMA certifies that the Interpretation Determination is operating effectively and efficiently, and that as such, a Regulation Impact Statement is not required for this instrument to continue in its current form. The OBPR reference number is 17279.

The assessment that the instrument is operating effectively and efficiently has been informed by a consultation process which involved consulting with the general public over the period 17 November 2014 to 2 January 2015.

I acknowledge that the OBPR will publish this letter for transparency purposes as part of a consolidated list of regulatory instruments which continue in force instead of sunseting as scheduled.

If you have any queries about this advice, please contact Eleanor Kay on (02) 6219 5430, or by email at eleanor.kay@acma.gov.au.

Yours sincerely

Giles Tanner
